

A letter from the North Pole

ELF WORKSHOP · ARRIVALS DEPARTMENT

North Pole, December _____

Hi .....!

It's me, Jingle, your elf from the North Pole! I arrived last night, all out of breath after a very long ride in Santa's sleigh.

Santa gave me a very important mission: to stay at your house until Christmas. Every night, when everyone is asleep, I zoom back to the North Pole to tell him about your day... and I'm back before sunrise.

And almost every morning, I'll find a new hiding spot. Keep your eyes open: I'm a very clever elf, and sometimes just a little bit cheeky!

There is only one magic rule: you can talk to me and tell me your secrets, but you must never touch me. Otherwise, my magic flies away!

Your new friend from the North Pole,

Jingle

P.S. If you'd like to write to me, leave a little note next to me tonight. I'll read it during the night!

The Elf Rules

1. Never touch me: my elf magic would fly away.
2. You can talk to me and tell me about your day and your secrets.
3. At night, I fly to the North Pole to tell Santa about your day.
4. In the morning, look for me: I may be hiding somewhere new!
5. Sometimes I play a little prank... but never a mean one.
6. On Christmas Eve, I fly home to the North Pole with Santa.

NORTH POLE · OFFICIAL CERTIFICATE

An elf has arrived!

The elf

Jingle

is now watching over the home of

_____

until Christmas Eve.

Done at the North Pole, December _____

Santa Claus

For parents

1. Write your child's name by hand (letter and certificate) and the day your elf arrives.
2. Place the letter next to the elf on the morning it arrives, for your child to find.
3. Read the elf rules together, then put them up near the elf.
4. Sign the certificate “Santa Claus” and hang it in your child's room until Christmas.

The same letter, already with your child's name

Type their name and your elf's name on our website: the personalized letter is free.

minuitmerveilles.com/en/elf-arrival-letter

The mornings until Christmas

Pranks, hiding spots and little notes from the elf with your child's name: the cheeky elf kit and the elf's Advent calendar at minuitmerveilles.com.